Course Builder

When faced with hundreds of documents and test questions available for a training program Crane Tech programmers developed Course Builder. A revolutionary Learning Management System that places manuals, tests, regulations, client policies... everything, into each course automatically.

No longer does the project director need to memorize or search for pertinent documents. All courses are preloaded with all the documents necessary. Need to change a preloaded load chart workshop to one that matches the client's equipment? Drag out the one that doesn't match and drag in the one that does. Load chart, workshop questionnaire and workshop answer guide are tied by serial number so nothing gets left behind. It's what you need when and where you need it right on the desktop, then delivered in time for training.

Need training tomorrow? No problem! With Course Builder training programs are assembled so quickly and precisely that getting a program out the door went from hours to minutes. And, accidentally leaving out a critical document in the rush is a thing of the past.

Need to revise an under performing test question? With Course Builder one change in the item bank means all tests with that question assigned are changed automatically. Plus, spotted pages are gone too. Not a single document is photo-copied for your program. Everything is printed as an original— every time.

One manual short... Not with Course Builder. Input the number of students and Course Builder adds two extra of everything just in case. Need a backup post-test? With Course Builder they will take a test containing the same concepts and learning objectives, but not the exact same test.

Our clients are believers and you will be too. Course Builder! Available only from Crane Tech.
